Sandperl briefs new students on institute history

IRA SANDPERL, president of the Institute for the Study of Non-Violence brings two of the new students in the current session up to date on the history of the school. Tom Link (left) and John Walsh visited with Sandperl the day before the use permit amendments were appealed to the Board of Supervisors. Fifteen students have been participating in classes being held from 1 to 5 p.m. The school has not been holding its weekend sessions at the Carmel Valley Road location during the time prior to the appeal.

No weekend classes for Baez Institute ... Tom Hudson blasts "Idiot Left!"

The Board of Supervisors appeared almost as confused as the audience at the close of a three and a half hour hearing on an appeal by Dr. and Mrs. Gerry Petkus against use permit amendments granted the Institute for the Study of Non-Violence. The final motion allowed two families to live on the premises, discounted outdoor meditation as non-classes, and denied them the right to hold weekend seminars. Secretary Holly Chenery told the Outlook that they would hold their weekend sessions in Jamesburg (which is "U" zone-no use permit required) where they have been meeting pending the Board's decision.

HUDSON'S STATEMENT

The fireworks of the hearing came after intermission. Tom Hudson, taking his seat late, asked to read a statement into the record. Evidenment into the record. Evidently written during the break, he called attention to "well known members of the audience." He referred to Francis Heisler, attorney for the School of Non-Violence, Joan Baez, Ira Sandperl, and then went on to include Valleyites John and Mary Sigourney, Col. George Brown, Nancy Strathmeyer, Andres Larson and "The Advocate," (a publication edited by Mrs. Sigourney and Dorothy Durham), in his tirade against the "idiot left movement." These were liked movement." These were linked together with references to Miss Baez's views on Viet Nam and stand on income tax.

Hudson said, "We have these individuals who flaunt their feelings in the faces of boys dying in Viet Nam." In reference to the monthly publication "The Advocate," which has asked Hudson to reply to their charges of conflict of interest in local matters, he spoke of its backing by the "Sigourney money."

He added,"We are aware of 'The Advocate' and its hate messages...elected officials do not have to sit and not reply to this."

The attack seemed entirely out of context since none of the persons involved had testified in the hearing except Miss Baez, Heisler and Sandperl.

Heisler requested a copy of the statement to present to the California Board of Law... saying that he had never heard of such an instance of a lawyer attacking a fellow lawyer and connecting him with "the idiot left."

Valley Realtor Nancy Strathmeyer also asked for a copy for her attorney. She reques-

DONKEY BASEBALL FETE JULY 19

A truckload of donkeys will arrive in Carmel Valley on Tuesday, July 19! The he-haws that ensue will probably come more from two-legged Valleyites than from the entourage of jackasses.

"Athletes" from the Fire Department and the Carmel Valley Lions will be mounting the friendly beasts in a deadly baseball game at the Little League Field, adjacent to the CV Fire Station at 6:15 that evening. The proceeds of the whole show will go toward the new Little League Field.

Lineups will be announced in the Outlook and tickets are being sold by members of the Carmel Valley Lions. Admission is 75¢ for adults and 25¢ for children.

All sorts of refreshments will be available before and during gametime and the players suggest you plan supper at the field while enjoying the combat between the teams.

The Lions invited the Fire Department to play and they accepted the challenge. Now, according to the Lions, the firemen are feeling very cocky and have challenged the Lions Club to a tug-of-war in August.

There are rumors in the Village that a couple of the Lions have turned "turncoat" and will be playing with the fire department. Of course, residents are well aware that there are numerous firemen who are also in the Lions Club...would you call this a conflict of interest?

It should be a wild game... with not a dull moment! Be sure and mark your calendar.

Miss Carmel Valley will be named at Sunday reception

The winner in the Miss Carmel Valley competition will be announced and toasted at a festive reception at Rancho del Monte Country Club on Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m. Votes will be counted by the Village Committee on Saturday and the lucky winner will be crowned with a lovely rhinestone tiara the next day. Everyone is invited to attend the ceremonies and toast the queen!

Juanita Partridge, Ann Warmington and Patty Brinsmead are the three local girls who have been competing for the honor. If you have a favorite, hurry to one of the local merchants, make a purchase and cast your vote before Saturday.

The queen and her two attendents will ride in a float designed and made by the Carmel Valley Youth Organization in the July 23 Rodeo Parade in Salinas. This is the gala Saturday evening procession, beginning at 8:30.

Miss Carmel Valley will wear a floor length white satin gown.

TWO QUEEN CANDIDATES for Miss Carmel Valley spent a relaxing afternoon at Rancho del Monte, which will be the setting for the coronation next Sunday afternoon. Patty Brinsmead was tied up elsewhere, but Juanita Partridge (left) and Ann Warmington posed for our photographer by the pool. One of the three girls will act as the Valley queen in the Salinas Rodeo Parade on July 2, with the other two serving as attendents.

Editorial

How do you like your roads?

We will be among the first to say if we think any supervisor is not promoting the best interests of Carmel Valley. By the same token, let us say hurray when we think one is on the right track.

At last week's combined meeting of the Board of Supervisors and the Planning Commission, Tom Hudson took on the county road department in reference to road requirements in rural subdivisions...and we say, "Hurray!"

It appears that to retain the rural atmosphere of the Valley (or any place on the Peninsula for that matter) we are going to have to fight either the County Road Department or the State Highway Commission with a vigilance that is never ending. If we don't, we will have freeways and 60 foot right-of-ways shoved down our throats whether it's logical or not.

As Hudson said to County Road Commissioner Bruce Mcclain, there are people who LIKE to live on narrow winding roads...there are even people who prefer to live on DIRT roads (how unthinkable!) People who do not like the "substandard roads" which we have in such locations as Carmel Highlands, La Rancheria, or Robles del Rio, are certainly not forced to live there...there are many places with nice, wide straight subdivision roads. However, it might be noted in passing that most of these places with roads that don't come up to the standards of the road department, and developments asking for roads of this character, are areas of extremely high property values.

In answer to the charge that for safety, drivers of moving vans, buses, ambulances and fire trucks don't like narrow roads, Hudson said,"I've driven a big La France fire truck (like ours) through foggy, misty nights on narrow Highlands roads...and we always got there without undue problems.

Let's keep our attention up or we'll find ourselves looking like Castro Valley, and those of us who live here now, because we LIKE it this way can move out and have the road department personnel build houses on their nice wide city streets.

HORSE KNOW-HOW is part instinct and a great portion training. A number of Valleyites have enrolled in the two week summer sessions at the new Gold Oak Stables to learn more about riding. Ralph Carter (right) gives Stephen Page instruction in mounting and dismounting during one of the beginners sessions held from 10 to 11 a.m. each morning. The rest of the class watches. Trail & Saddle Club

Jr. members organize, plan group parade activities

A Junior Division of the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club has been organized and held its first meeting last Sunday.

Ann Warmington was elected chairman, Orley White was elected vice-chairman and Kristin Swanson was named secretary of the new division.

After elections, the group continued with a discussion of uniforms and coming parades in which they will particpate. The new uniform was settled as white western shirts, gold hats, blue scarf tie, blue levis and matching saddle blankets.

The junior group will parade with their colors in three events this summer. First they will ride in the grand entry parades at the Salinas Rodeo next month. Later in the summer they will appear at the Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association show and at their own Trail and Saddle Club show on September 4. It was decided by vote that Orley White would carry the American flag in these parades.

The group decided to have a hostess, but agreed to leave that decision up to the parents.

42% increase in Peninsula phone subscribers

Monterey Peninsula residents are chatting more than ever, Pacific Telephone statistics revealed today.

Telephone customers in the Monterey, Big Sur, Carmel, and Carmel Valley exchanges combined to place 247,100 calls per day during 1965. The mark was 41 per cent higher than five years earlier when 174,700 calls were made each day.

Residents were using more phones, too. In 1965, subscribers had 63,300 phones in use, a 42 per cent increase over 1960 when they used 44,500 phones.

Other figures showed that P. T. & T's property tax bill in Carmel, Monterey, Seaside, Pacific Grove, and Del Rey Oaks has risen from $316,000 in 1960 to $425,000 last year, a 34 per cent increase.

Company employment in the four exchanges totaled 336 last year, with a total payroll of $2,023,500.

CUSD Board considers administrative jobs, transportation

Applicants being screened ★★★ 3-mile limit set for bus service

A starting salary of $20,000 per year under a four year contract will be offered applicants for the job of superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, according to a letter which is being sent out announcing the position.

At last Wednesday's CUSD board of trustees meeting, Dr. Hilton Bialek gave a progress report on the search for replacement for Medill Bair, who resigned early last month to take a position in Hartford, Connecticut.

Forty or fifty applicants for the position have been processed, according to Dr. Bialek, who added that they expect to have at least 100 applicants before they really settle down to choose. They hope to have the list narrowed down to five by the second week in July, he said.

Dr. Bialek also announced that they had (the trustees) selected a committee to assist them in screening candidates. This committee is made up of Dr. George Faul, president of Monterey Peninsula College, Dr. Clarence Hall, superintendent of Pacific Grove School District, and Marvin Patterson, president of the Carmel Teachers Association. The committee have received no instructions for the trustees, who stated that they have not limited their interest for applicants to just those from the local area although they have received inquiries from Monterey and Salinas.

The board accepted the resignations of its top two administrators Wednesday night. That of Medill Bair, which had been submitted at a previous meeting, was accepted by the board and that of his assistant superintendent Wayne Greenfield, was also accepted. Greenfield had tendered his letter of resignation at Wednesday's board meeting, stating that he needed time from his duties to complete his doctorate. He plans to stay in the district, however, as a teacher at the high school level.

A new schedule setting the limits for transportation to CUSD schools at three miles was adopted by the Board of Trustees at last week's meeting. Although none of the trustees looked upon it as a complete solving of the transportation problem, Mrs. Herbert Blanks who made the motion described it as "a step closer to less chaos." The additional to less chaos." The addition of $21,437.00 at the June 8 board meeting provided for the additional transportation.

Valley areas which received transportation during the past school year, but which will still not be serviced under the three mile limit include all of Robles Del Rio and the area between it and Tularcitos School and Los Laureles Grade and the section between it and the school. The bew schedule has added Tularcitos Ranch, Wagon Wheel and the Wilson Ranch which were without transportation under the seven mile limit.

Carmel routes which were in effect this year, but will not be continued under this plan include all of the town routes for Middle School (with the exception of the stop at the statue in Carmel Woods), Carmel Meadows, Carmel Knolls, Mission Fields and Rancho Rio Vista to River, Middle and High School, and the area around the High School, Atherton, and the Mesa to Middle School.

Big Sur children will be bussed to their schools, Highlands and Pebble Beach youngsters will have transportation and the little ones from Carmelo will have buses from Via Petra to Rancho Rio Vista. Carmelo School is the dividing line for transportation of Valley students to Middle and High school.

Greenfield was superintendent of the Tularcitos School District here in the Valley for the five years prior to its unification with Carmel in 1958,

With Greenfield's resignation coming less than a month after that of Medill Bair, the district is faced with the task of finding two new top administrators before the new school year begins. During the interim time, Dan Yurkovich, administrative assistant to the superintendent, will be summer school principal and the only link of continuity between present staff and newly hired administrators.

Schulte Road residents OK Noto hospital

A petition favoring the construction of the convalescent hospital on Schulte Road was presented to the Board of Supervisors last week, with a number of signatures attached.

The persons, property owners in the Schulte Road area, stated their desire for the construction of the complete phase of the 160 bed hospital proposed by Dr. Joseph Noto, because they feel his offer of bringing a city water line to the area is of vital importance.

Noto's application for the first phase, a fifty bed facility had been approved by the board. However, when he requested permission to build his complete hospital, saying it was no longer economically feasible to operate the smaller unit, the board refused to allow it.

Denial was based on the fact that the wells which provide water to the residents of Schulte Road might be contaminated by seepage from the sewage treatment plant which Noto planned to build. To alleviate this problem, he proposed providing city water, and extending the line to local residents.

Many of the neighboring property owners opposed his proposition at that time. This petition from supporting landowners can have no effect unless Noto reapplies to the board for further consideration, since the matter had already been voted down on May 25.

L.L. managers have tough job selecting all star team

Selecting the Little League All Star team is one of the "toughest jobs a manager has all year," according to Giants Manager Roger Sherman. The committee, consisting of Rev. Jim Brock, Bill Conlan, Sal Ocampo, and Roger Sherman met to select the boys with George Gross, LL president, and Rex Pryer, player agent, sitting in.

Boys are selected on their playing ability and their sportsmanship, coupled with ability to cooperate and play well with their fellow team members. They must be able to follow instructions and work well with the coaches, umpires, managers.

Fourteen boys with three alternates make up the All Star team. Boys were selected from all four of the Valley teams. Those who made the All Stars from the Volunteers are: David Raynes, Ross Meikeljohn, Allan Stie, Brian Hermanson, and Tom Ocampo. Red Sox members are: John Gardiner, Mike Feeney, Ted Hall, Bob Conlan and Gary Cummings. Walt Colas, Randy Sweet and Manuel Mancebe were selected from the Giants team, and Sparky LaGrange from the Tigers.

Alternates chosen were Mike Groves from the Giants, Steve Hohler from the Volunteers, and Ben Feeney from the Red Sox.

DISTRICT RULES MEETING

Last week Bill Conlan, George Gross and Sal Ocampo went to the district meeting in Watsonville to help set up the rules and regulations for the championship games. This district area extends from Scotts Valley in the north to Carmel Valley in the south.

LL WORLD

For the first time in several years the Carmel Valley All Stars will be vying for a place in the Little League World Series Tournament play in Williamsport, Penn.

There are four stages to the World Series. These are the area district, sectional, and regional. The winner of the regional crown will go to the home of Little League in Williamsport for the grand playoffs.

This year the district championship games will be held in Carmel at the Little League field, starting on July 27. The sectional games will undoubtedly be played in San Jose, and the regional games in Sacramento.

There are six teams involved in the area play. These are Carmel Valley, Carmel, Marina, Pacific Grove, Ford Ord and Seaside National. Carmel Valley will play their first game at Ford Ord on July 20 at 6 p.m. on Field #1 on Coe Avenue.

INVITATIONALS

In addition to the area playoffs, there will be invitational games between winning teams in each League. The first game will be between Carmel Valley and Carmel on July 9 at 2 p.m. at the Carmel field. Half of the proceeds from the concession booths will be re-

Benefit picnics net big rewards for Valleyites

BENEFIT PICNICS at the Trail and Saddle Club grounds have been going strong this summer. Various organizations have put on Sunday Steak barbecues as money raising events with great success. The Lions Club netted over $300 and the Little League served guests to the profit of about $500. turned to the Valley. The second game will be between Carmel Valley and Pacific Grove on July 13, at 6 p.m. at the Valley field.

CONSOLATION PLAYOFF

This year there will be a consolation playoff. Standings from the first half of the season put the Red Sox in first place, the Volunteers in second, the Giants in third and the Tigers in fourth. Standings at the end of the second half of the season saw the Volunteers in first place, the Red Sox in second and the Tigers and Giants tied for third place. So, there will be a playoff between the Red Sox and Volunteers and another between the Tigers and Giants. These will be held at the Valley Little League field on Monday; July 4, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Whoever takes the game between the Red Sox and Volunteers will be the first place Valley team and will play in the invitational games.

Non-denominational prayer group organized for residents

An inter-faith prayer group to help meet the spiritual needs of the Valley has been organized and meets every Thursday night at 8 p.m.

The next meeting will be held at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church on Robinson Canyon Road at 8 p.m. on June 30. Subsequent gatherings will be held in other local churches and will be announced.

Everyone, regardless of church affiliation, is invited to join this small group in an hour of informal prayer. Anyone wishing to have prayers offered for himself, his family or friends is urged to mail requests to Prayer Group, Box 303 Carmel Valley. The requests can be signed or unsigned, according to preference. In instances of great burden the request can be put inside a sealed envelope and marked "not to be opened." Then the circle will offer a prayer for this particular load to be lifted from the troubled heart.

The group is being developed in an endeavor to recognize the growing ecumenical movement. It is but one call in a world-wide movement to use the powerful force of prayer to heal the sick, comfort the sorrowing and extend friendship to the lonely.

Cachagua committee recommends 1 year extension of 5 acre zoning

The committee to study zoning in the Cachagua area decided to request an extension of the five acre interim zoning for one year, at a meeting held on Tuesday, June 21.

The committee consists of Rex White, chairman, Al Shattuck of Del Monte Properties, Ken Fuller of the California-American Water Company, Pete Scardina, and Jack Swanson.

White announced that the group has compiled a mailing list of 126 persons who have property within the boundaries set up in the interim zoning ordinance. These persons will be informed of the committee's activities and decisions. The group felt that there was not enough time remaining for a complete and adequate study on permanent zoning, thus the request for the time extension. County Zoning Administrator Bob Slimmon, County Sanitarioan Ed Munson and Supervisor Tom Hudson also attended the meeting.

The group was to meet again for further discussion last night after the Outlook had gone to press. We will report their progress in next week's paper.

Genial Sam Corona enjoys his customers and his Valley

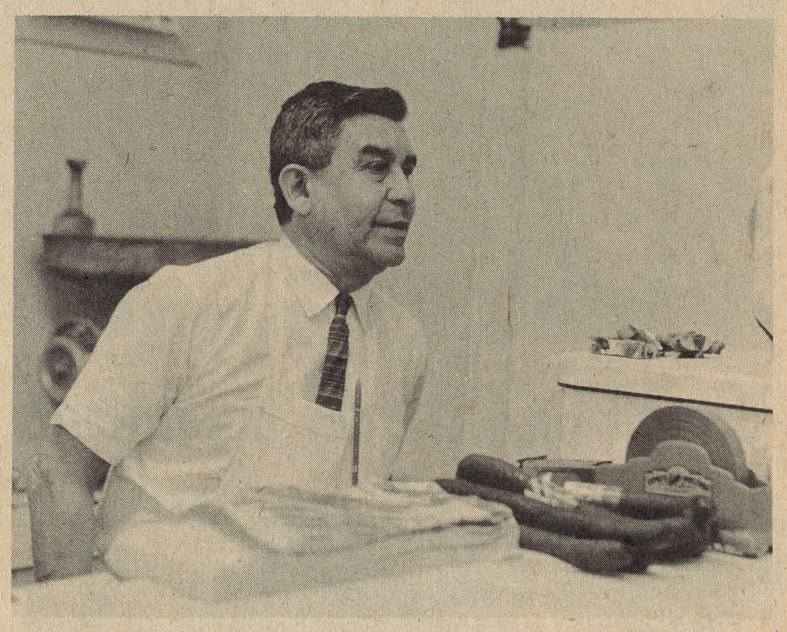
Sam Corona considers himself a privileged man, because he has been in business more than 15 years in the spot he likes best, Carmel Valley.

He operates the meat market in the Village Market on Carmel Valley Rd. in Carmel Valley Village.

"It was Flag Day 15 years ago when we moved into our home on Via Milpitas," Sam reminisced.

Flag Day means a little more to him than many other people because he is a past grand exalted ruler of Monterey Elks Lodge No. 1285. It is an organization which has always spotlighted Flag Day as a way to express appreciation for U. S. A.

Sam opened initially with a meat market and delicatessen a few doors west of the Village Market. He was there five years, before moving to his present location.



SAM CORONA

IN MONTEREY

Before that, for six years, he had operated his own "Corona Market," including groceries and meat, on Lighthouse Ave. in New Monterey.

"I've been in business for myself for 30 years," Sam Said. "In fact, I started in the meat business in 1918 in Gilroy when I was 12 years old."

A Native Son, he was born in San Juan Bautista. His father died when he was young, throwing the family of eight children, four boys and four girls without their mother on their own at early ages. "We worked hard and managed; it was lucky the house was paid for," San recalled.

He remembers a lot of changes in meat prices during his years in business. "I remember when the price of a good leg of pork was 8¢ or 9¢ a pound retail -- but most people didn't have the money to buy it anyway.

Sam, who smiles easily and often, speaks with affection of his wife Buela, a native of Des Moines, Iowa. "We've been married 33 years," he said.

They are fond grandparents of the three youngsters of their son, Don, 31, and his wife. Don is manager of an electronics store in Seaside.

FOND OF HUNTING

Hunting is the favorite sport of Sam Corona. He knows the surrounding moutains thoroughly from hunting deer. He likes to go duck hunting, too, and belonged to a duck club in Los Banos.

Sam has made time for a variety of organizations in which he has been active. Besides the Elks, he belongs to the Pisano Club in Monterey. In Carmel Valley, he is a member of the Los Padres Club, Chamber of Commerce and a charter member of the local Lions Club.

He is a past member of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Dept. and Buela is still active in its Ladies Auxiliary. She is also a past president of the CV Women's Club and active in the Lionettes. Both belong to the CV Garden Club.

Is it possible to wave the flag too much? Not when you wave it with pride and integrity! Let's so wave it on this Independence Day . . . and every other day of significance to our precious heritage of freedom.

Third annual Arabian Horse Show set for July 29-31

Entry blanks and premium books for the Third Annual Arabian Horse Show, to be held July 29-31, may be obtained from Mrs. Roberta Chappell in Carmel Valley, at Box 375. The show which will take place at the Monterey County Fairgrounds will benefit the Monterey County American Cancer Society.

Last year's show saw a number of Valley entries and even more local and out-of-state exhibitors are expected at this one.

The theme of the event will salute the Spanish heritage of Monterey and will feature an authentic Spanish Caleche loaned by Charles Steen of Carson City. A caleche is drawn by eight Arabian horses in silver mounted harnesses and accompanied by out riders in traditional Spanish garb, in addition to the postillion riders who handle the horses.

Music Society officers plan '66-67 concert season

DISCUSSING the Carmel Music Society's program for next year are the Society's officers and directors. Seated is Mrs. Alvin Gluck; standing L. to r., Mrs. Glen Harnish, Dr. Harvey Marshall, Mrs. T. O. Edwards and Mrs. Carl E. Welchner. A limited number of season tickets are still available and can be obtained at the Harnish Music Company in Carmel or by calling 624-4390.

Carmel Music Society board re-elects Mrs. Carl Welchner

Mrs. Carl E. Welchner was re-elected president of the Carmel Music Society for the 1966-67 season at the society's June 7 meeting of the board of directors.

Other officers elected for the coming year were: Steven H. Sassoon, Mrs. Howard Bowman and Mrs. T. O. Edwards, first, second and third vice presidents respectively; the Rev. H. M. M. Nicholas, recording secretary; Walter Jennings, treasurer; and Frederick Schaad, corresponding secretary.

Board members for the 1966-67 season include: Mrs. Howard Bowman, Dr. John Craige, Mrs. T. O. Edwards, Mrs. Monte Harrington, Mrs. Harry Lusignan, Dr. Arnold Manor, Mr. Ed Neroda, Mrs. Doris Rohr, Mrs. Carl E. Welchner and Dr. Mast Wolfson.

Cole Weston named Festival manager

Cole Weston, who recently became the year round stage manager for Sunset Auditorium, will have the added responsibility of managing the Bach Festival concerts at Sunset this year.

Cole is leading a busy life these days with his position of representing the Carmel Arts Commission as co-director for the CUSD recreation department children's plays which will be presented at the Forest Theatre in August. In addition he is working on the Commission's programs at the Forest Theatre.

Cole has been active for many years in Peninsula theatre circles both in acting and directing.

Another local name will also be connected with this year's Bach Festival.

Morgan Stock, Department Chairman and instructor of speech and drama at Monterey Peninsula College, will direct the "Play of Herod." The play will have its West Coast premiere at the Mission Basilica on Wednesday evening, July 20. During the past two years, Stock has directed more than twenty plays at MPC in addition to appearing on the Peninsula as both an actor and director.

IT WAS HOT DOG DAY in Carmel when Greg Solis (right) and Daulton Hatch, owners of The book Worm, served free wienies to their customers publicizing the new Hot Dog Cookbook. The book includes over 150 recipes varying from a salad with apples, dill pickles lettuce and sour cream, to a casserole with onions, olives, hard boiled eggs, and celery, all with hot dogs. John Rennels of Carmel (left) and Tiara Everman from Pacific Grove became full fledged members of the Hot Dog Club of America after partaking of the fare.

10th annual Religious Art Show

The tenth annual exhibit of contemporary religious art has been scheduled by the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel for July 16 to 24 to coincide with the holding of the Bach Festival. This traditional show of religious paintings and other works of art will be displayed in the Fellowship Hall of the Church.

This year's director of the art event will be Mrs. Robert R. Aurner of Carmel. Gordon N. Smith is chairman of the committee planning the show.

The exhibit is open to the public without charge and paintings may be purchased.

Artists from the Monterey Peninsula, other parts of California and out of the state have been invited to participate. Additional information about making entries may be obtained by calling the church office, 624-3550.

Hawaii revisited! Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anthony have returned to their Flight Road home after three weeks in the Islands. It was their first trip after a three month stay seven years ago. While the greatest change noted by the Valleyites were the number of "high risers" from Waikiki to Diamond Head, the Anthonys with their love for photography found them easy to overlook since the charm of the flowers, the color and the music that weaves the magic spell of the Islands is still there. They spent a good deal of time in Honolulu and enjoyed driving everything from an Impala to a Datsun on their exploration trips.

They made their first visit to Maui and returned to their favorite island of Kauai with its beautiful coco palms. They discovered that many more people were wearing island costume (both residents and tourists). Undoubtedly some of the attire came from the charming shop owned by former Valleyite Peggy Porter Morrow. They visited her shop and though they missed her, they met her husband and enjoyed the Gallery and Boutique. Floral slides taken by the Anthonys are always a treat and since they stated that the flowers of Hawaii were never lovelier, their many friends will be looking forward to their most recent additions to their collection.

An Alaskan bush pilot took one horrified look at the speed with which the ice of the Kobuk River was melting, he alerted Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perry in the remote Eskimo Village of Noorvik, 200 miles northeast of Nome, and a few hours later, Carmen, Chuck and their children, Montie and Butch found themselves in the pool at Rancho Del Monte Resort.

The Perry family had planned a Valley vacation before enrolling for summer school at Southern Oregon College in Ashland Oregon, but they didn't know that one more day would have flooded the makeshift landing strip and made their first furlough from the North in two years an impossibility.

Chuck, a teaching-principal for the Bureau of Indian Affairs is a former resident of Carmel Valley. Carmen who teaches in the school serving the 384 eskimos who inhabit Noorvik, formerly made her home in Salinas. They have lived north of the Arctic Circle for four years and will return at the end of summer school to fulfill another two year contract.

Their children, who speak Eskimo fluently, enjoy their life, but found Stateside ice cream superior to their native friends' dessert of blubber sprinkled with blue berries, a rare treat!

A surfing-swimming party in Carmel was planned by Mrs. Robert Richerts to celebrate the birthday of her daughter Sidney and for the gang to say goodbyes to Lance Crooks who was leaving for Germany for the summer. Lance is accompanying his mother, Mrs. Herbert E. Crooks, to join his father who is a builder for a Chicago firm, currently engaged in constructing the largest refinery in Europe.

Last summer the Valleyites were reunited for the vacation months in Tokyo. Clever Pat Richerts had decorated watermelons for the honorees; Sidney's with white candles, rosettes, etc., while Lance's depicted his mode of transportation, an airplane. She used spray cans of whipping cream and frosting for her unique treats.

Attending were Jim, Brian and Duane Callahan, Allison and Jim Richerts, Dee Dee and Norman Skadan, Mike Davenas, and Bryan Deal. The next morning the group lined the street to wave goodbye as Lance headed for the airport.

Mike Davenas, who lives at Pebble Beach, invited the same party to be his guests at the Beach Club for the filming of "Where the Action Is." Parents awaited a detailed report from their youngsters who had appeared on television show and seen many of their favorite recording stars in person. They were more than a little surprised to find that the most exciting discovery of the day was a family of racoons living in a tree on the golf course!

Mrs. Calvin Garner of Laurel Drive and West Carmel Valley Road has returned from Los Angeles where she visited her mother. The Garner daughter, Kelly, remained and will accompany her grandmother on a trip to Tuscon, Ariz.

Mrs. Eric Scarlett invited a group of friends to enjoy a lingerie party recently at the home of her mother, Mrs. Joseph Carter, in Robles Del Rio. Mrs. Pat Douglas of Salinas was commentator for the fashions modeled by Mrs. Loren Wilder and Miss Sue Currier. Kathy served refreshments to an audience made up of Mrs. Gary Paddock, Mrs. Elaine Scarlett, Miss Margy Carter, Mrs. James Madsen, Mrs. Michael Carter, Miss Pattie Carter, Mrs. Bobby Haller and Mrs. James Sands.

Summertime play continues for members of the Valley Bridge Club who meet each Tuesday evening at the Carmel Valley Community Center. First place winners of last weeks Duplicate Bridge Tournament were Mrs. M. L. Stoney and Victor Rosen. Second place awards went to Mrs. Mary Drobek and Mrs. Mary Angier. Mrs. Robert Angell and Mrs. Howard Vail were winners of third place.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris and children have been entertaining guests from Denver, Colorado at their Berwick Drive home. Marlene's mother, Mrs. Raymond Riede, accompanied by four college age granddaughters, Linda, Taffy, Ann Reide and Polly Uhl, drove to the Valley via a route through Canada. They left this week for a tour of the Los Angeles area and will return home by the South. Friends invited to a dinner party to meet them last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson, Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Robert Kirksey, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hattan.

A gardener's straw hat hanging on the gate at the Jamesburg ranch of Mrs. I. B. (Jenny) Henningsen marked the location for the installation of officers of the Country Gardeners' Club. Retiring president, Mrs. William Henningsen announced plans for the Monterey County Fall Fair. A picnic lunch was enjoyed by the gardeners in attendance.

Welcome to the new neighbors on Paso Mediano who arrived in the Valley fresh from duty in Bremerhaven, Germany. Mr. and Mrs. William Durboraw, Jr. and sons, Earl, 6, and Scottie, 2 1/2, plan to be in the area a year while Bill studies Thai at the Defense Language School. He is a Com-

Cypress Club takes fifth in AAU meet

Cypress Swim Club members took a fifth place in the team division, and a sixth place in duet competition at the 1966 Pacific Association AAU Junior Outdoors synchornized swimming championships held last weekend at the San Jose Swim and Racquet Club.

The Junior Outdoors is always a popular meet, but this year the entry was so large, with 107 participants, that it took two full days to complete, rather than the usual one day.

The San Francisco Merionettes took top place in all divisions with first place in solos going to Carol Redmond, a former protege of Donn Squire, coach of the Cypress Swim Club.

Cypress members, Jan and Sharon Roehl, won sixth place with their duet, "Rondo," followed by teammates Lindy Doud and Jo Anne Padjen, in twelfth place with "Shades of the Roaring 20's," Marnie Mark and Susan Selfridge, in 17th place with "In the Kingdom of Poseidon," and Margaret Demarest and Judy Snyder, 18th place with "Fiddle-Faddle."

In the team division, the Cypress entry, "Cotillion Waltz," placed fifth, swum by Margaret Demarest, Gail Downes, Jo Anne Padjen, Jan and Sharon Roehl, and Judy Snyder. "Toy Soldiers on Parade," swum by Bonnie Banker, Lindy Doud, Marnie Mark, Sheila McClain, Kathy Neill, and Susan Selfridge, took ninth place in this event.

Next weekend, the club will travel to Castro Valley for the Junior Olympics finals, all of its entries having qualified in the zone trials held June 12, at Santa Clara.

AFA Reception

The Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts in holding a reception from 3 to 5 for the opening of the show of paintings by well known artists Catherine and George Seideneck. All members of the AFA are invited as well as friends of the Seidenecks. Refreshments will be served.

Drama review:

Familiar songs and good voices blend in 'Carousel'

"Carousel," pulls all the stops, but even knowing that there were very few dry eyes (even th e male members of the audience sniffed a bit) at Thursday's opening at White Oaks Theatre. The play, a musical with a moral, could easily be just too much, but we think the young people gave a very professional performance and kept it from getting schmaltzy.

Although there are ten fewer voices in the chorus this year, according to Sally Church, their quality is excellent and their tones blend so compatibly as to seem a veritable choir.

Individually there are some promising voices, high-lighted by "veteran" White Oaks Theatre actress Tracy Carr, whose rendition of "June Is Bustin' Out All Over" brought repeated spontaneous applause from the audience. Tracy, who plays Nettie Fowler, is a young woman with a remarkably mature and well trained voice. She will undoubtedly become a name we will hear of...in the "big time."

Sandra Lundwall, who was noteworthy in last summer's shows as a dancer, does a switch and shows up as Julie Jordan, with a voice. Sandra has been studying for only a short while with Nancy Ness Bowman and gives good promise as a singer as well as a dancer and actress (proven in the winter production of "Glass Menagerie").

A newcomer to the White Oaks scene is Katie Russell who is Carrie Pipperidge. Singing of her destiny, marying Mr. Snow, her voice is light and clear and she makes Carrie a believable, attractive little New England mill worker.

Michael Riordan, whom we also saw in "Glass Menagerie," takes the leading role of Billie Bigelow and carries it with the right defensive swagger and likeable nere-d'-well attitude. He also appears in a singing role for the first time at White Oaks and has several numbers that encompass a wide range. We held our breath for a couple of dramatic high notes...he made them and will undoubtedly carry them through now with more ease, after the strain of opening night is past. His voice inflections are good and he keeps his singing in character with the role.

It's good to have Ken Bach-told back on the scene for the second year. He plays Mr. Snow, and as always is a great comic relief. His movements and facial expressions are truly individual and he stands out as a talented person.

The kids, playing the Snow children are cute and spontaneous. George Gray, Clinora Wiley, and especially Kittie Hendrix and Leslie Condren, who are bright-eyed minxes, are properly nasty and righteous as children will be.

Barbara Gene Makinster, the child of Julie Jordan and Billie Bigelow, dances her lonely, unhappy, persecuted childhood with scarcely a word. No word is needed. . . it is all there in her interpretation of Gale Peterson's excellent choreography.

The costumes, sets and music tie in the whole production for a thoroughly enjoyable and slightly tearful evening. You can take the children, too!

An Outlook Picture Story

Monterey traditions carried on by Siino famil

An image of old Monterey, fishing boats the canneries and Steinbeck novels materializes at the sight of the Monterey Boat Works on the waterfront south of Cannery Row. The lore, hardwork, and romance of the sea are still very much a part of the scene in the business which has been owned and operated by the Siino family since 1937. It didn't begin there, however. Angelo Siino, father of Frank and Ray, the present owners, started boat building with his two brothers on the Sacramento River in the early 1900's. He started a boatworks in Monterey on Wave Street in 1915 and set up a yard on the water front, adjacent to the present location in 1924.

Over the years the family has handled about 13,000 boats, mostly from the fishing industry and even in these days of fewer and fewer fish, 300 still pass through the yard for maintenance and repair each year.

RON ANNELLO, a cousin of the Siino Brothers, talks with boat owners, Bill Cooper and Randy Randazzo, all of Monterey. Ron showed plans of the boat he was building, which he said would probably be called the "Laura Lee." He has been a fisherman and boat builder for about 40 years, during which he fished for tuna off South America in the 30's. Explaining their presence at the boat yard, when their own boats were tied up in Monterey, Bill and Randy said, "It's like when a woman has a baby, and everyone comes to see how everything is going... so it is with us and our boats. When a friend is building a new boat, we come around to see how things are going." Added Bill, "and to give him free advice."

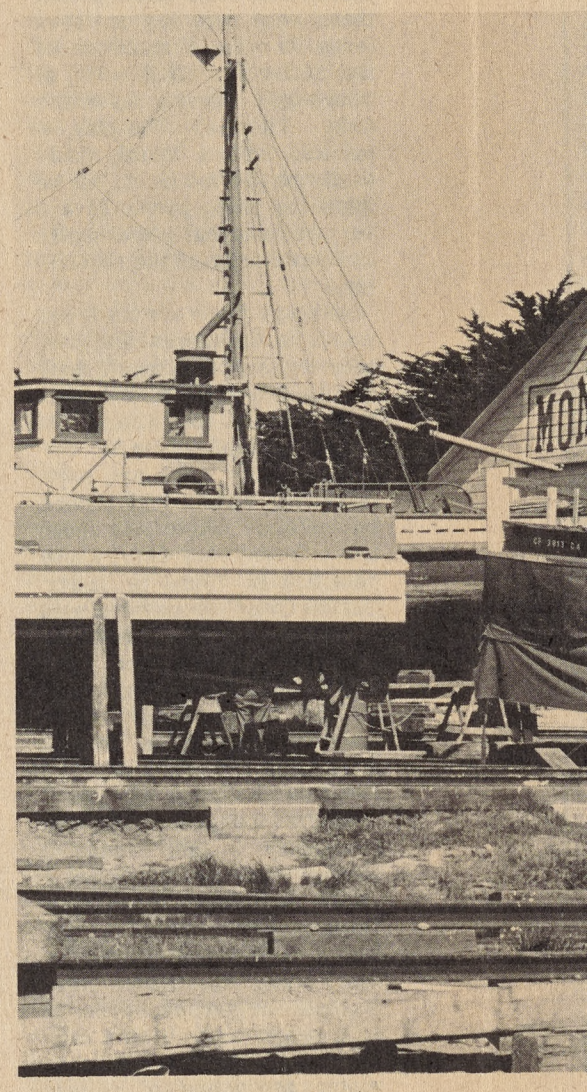
Although most of their work these days is in maintenance, in January of this year, one of the first Monterey Clipper boats to be built in many years was launched with great fanfare. The "Anthony Boy," locally designed and built, is now being used by its owner in Alaskan fishing waters.

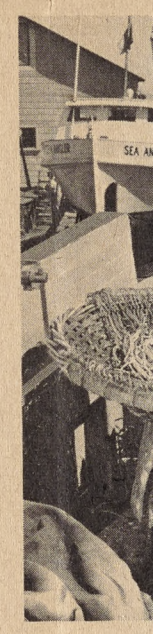
The design of the Clipper is adaptable to pleasure craft as well, and the Siino brothers are currently working on plans for a similar craft which an out-of-town boating enthusiast plans to use as a yacht.

At present, sitting high among the fishing boats, one can see the deep-keeled sloop, "The Innuendo," owned by Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hatton. This is the first deep-keeled sail boat that the Monterey Boat Works has hauled for over 30 years. It is in for repairs, repainting and general overhaul.

In keeping abreast of the times, Frank and Ray have a new project in the works. Catering to the tremendous interest in skindiving, they have designed a craft specifically for this group. It is a light weight boat on pontoons, which is non-sinkable. The weight is about 400 pounds and it can be hauled on a trailer. It's advantages are many since it is designed as a camper as well. Stripped down, it has plenty of room for gear, seats along the side, a front rail that drops to form a mounting ladder, and high side rails so the entire family can enjoy the day on the water, according to Frank. A small outboard motor, anything from 5 to 20 horsepower, will propel it and at night a tent can be rigged up and there is a "pad" (on water or land) until activities begin the next day.

During the summer time Frank's sons, Andy and Randy, 16 and 14 years old, work at the boatyard, carrying on the family interest. With updating of interests and activities the old Monterey industry is still going strong.





ABOVE -- A landmark since the turn of the century, the Monterey Boat Works near Cannery Row, still services the familiar fishing boats which were the principle livlihood of the Peninsula. The canneries lie vacant, or have been converted to decorating shops, galleries, restaurants or factories, but the boat yard is still working on boats. Tying in the hole operation over the years is yard foreman Benedict Cobiseeno, who has been in the boat building business for 45 years, 40 of which have been here.

AT RIGHT -- Joe Spadare, now fishing in Alaska, checked some of his nets and gear while his boat, the "St. Bernadette," was in the yard for repairs and a new coat of paint. Joe came to this country, and Monterey, from Marettino, Sicily in 1939 and his boat was built at the Monterey Boat Works in '46.

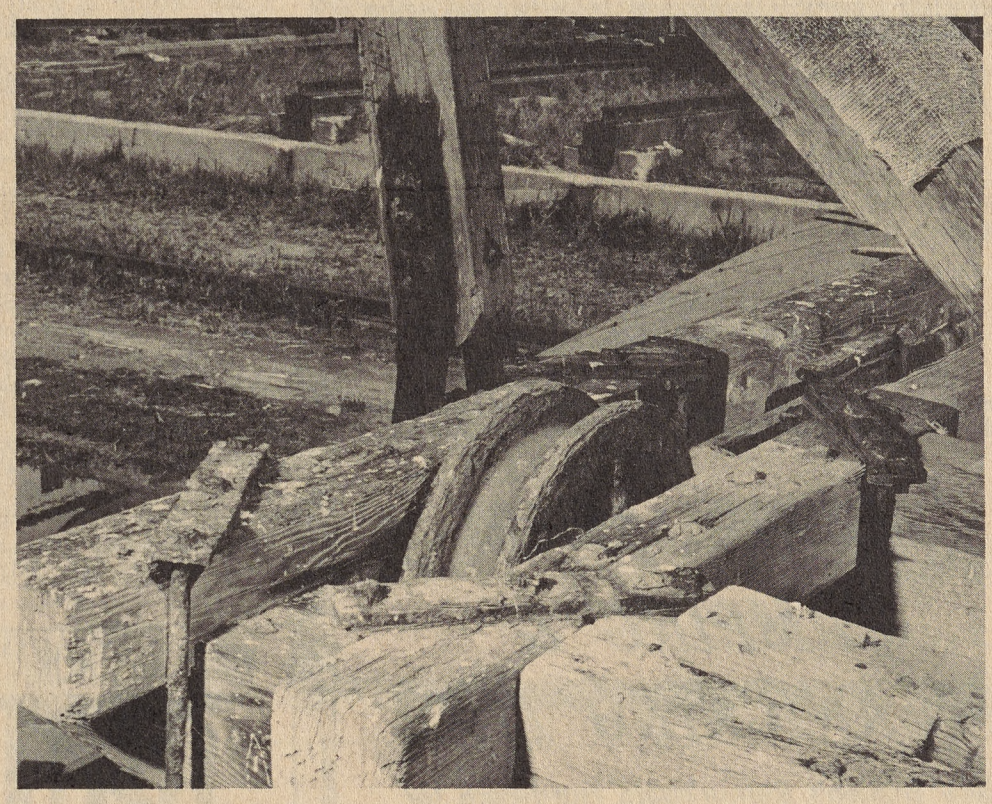
FRANK SIINO, one of the two owners, examines part of the old gearing still used to transport boats from the building area to the launching ramp. His brother and co-owner, Ray, was absent on the day our photographer was there but is back now. Frank was formerly a Carmel Valley resident from 1952 to 1963, and lived in one of two houses his mother still owns on Paso Hondo. At that time their other boat yard at Moss Landing was in operation and Frank commuted daily from the Valley to the Landing to Monterey. The Moss Landing works was discontinued a few years ago. Frank said one of their greatest problems was the ever-blowing sand which constantly covered the launching tracks.



THE ANCIENT WHEELS and weathered timbers of the launching ramp have sent many a fishing boat down to the waters of Monterey Bay.

Carmel Board of Realtors asks change in minor sub. access

At the recent planning workshop sponsored by the Carmel Board of Realtors, and attended by PlanCom, property owners, and advisory board members, the group selected a committee to draft an amendment to resolution #6842, which was an amendment to Monterey County zoning ordinance #911. The resolution basically called for four lots and under minor subdivision each having driveway frontage and would not allow combining these into one driveway as has often been the practice in the past. The Board felt that good traffic management would indicate one drive coming out on the Carmel Valley Road instead of four entering side by side. This particular resolution was passed by the Planning Commission in May and was to have been set for hearing shortly thereafter before the Board of Supervisors. However, at the request of the Carmel Board, the hearing was continued until August 9 at 10:30.

In clarifying their position, Nancy Strathmeyer said they are concerned that the old frontage requirements are an urban concept not applicable to rural areas and in many cases may make property inaccessible or undividable.

Since control of driveway entries on the county roads already exists and has to meet the requirements of the road department, they feel that this should be the method used to determine the adequacy of a lot split, not actual frontage of the property on the road. This could make many person's property indivisible.

Summer theatre at White Oaks features Offenbach, Bizet operas

Offenbach and Bizet will be a new feature of White Oaks Theatre's summer season this year. Tonight will open the first of regular Wednesday night performances of two one-act operas by Bizet and Offenbach.

Performed in English, the two operatic farces, Offenbach's "Marriage by Lantern Light" and Bizet's "Doctor Miracle," are being given in a venture described by director Shirley Eoff as "...a look at the form of popular entertainment that people wanted to see in the 19th century just as we do musical comedy today. We can enjoy them now not only as period pieces which represent an important phase of musical geneology, but also for their broad comic aspects and their fine operatic stylization."

Set in the 19th century, "Marriage By Lantern Light" tells of a young man's (Richard Veale) escape from the clutches of two mercenary widows (Karin Gjording and Tracy Carr) and his discovery that his real love is his own young ward (Shelia Jo White). The work is complete with the stock characters and settings popular in Offenbach's day.

The Bizet work makes even more use of stock situations calling for disguises and comic melodrama. "Doctor Miracle" is the facade adapted by a young lover (Veale) in pursuing the hand of his sweetheart (Miss White) despite the problems presented by her step-mother (Peggy Hewitt) and overbearing father, the Counsellor of Padua (Ken Bachtold).

Veale, Miss Hewitt, and Miss White come to the White Oaks from Louisiana State University where they have studied with Nance, assistant director of opera there. Bachtold returns from San Francisco State College for his second summer with the White Oaks company.

Miss Carr and Miss Gjording are students of Carmel's Nancy Ness Bowman, both having performed last month in her Monterey Peninsula Opera workshop presentation of "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Tickets for the Wednesday night productions are two dollars for adults and one dollar for children.

lege productions of "The Hostage" and "The House of Bernada Alba." Rod Allison, The Boy, has nine previous theatre credits, including "A Thousand Clowns" and "Best Foot Forward" at the Studio.

The Girl's Father, David L. Morris, was seen recently as The Captain in "Mister Roberts." Paul M. Felton, The Boy's Father, has been in many musicals and also played in "Sunday In New York" and "The Moon Is Blue" for the Studio.

Bob Lynn brings to the part of The Old Actor experience gained in summer stock in Massachusetts and Texas. Jim Sweeney, The Mute, studied eight years under Dale Lefler and took part in "Finian's Rainbow," "Once Upon A Mattress," and "Mister Roberts." Keith Decker, The Man Who Dies, is also the veteran of many productions.

"The Fantasticks" is under the direction of Michael Keller. Tom Fordham is musical director and show pianist and Bob Evans, Jr. designed the sets and lighting. Reservations for dinner and show or show only may be made by calling 624-1661 or 624-6739.

The Studio Theatre production will run through July 10, Monday excepted, to be followed on July 15 by "The Pajama Game." The two shows will then alternate weekly until Labor Day.

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy

Man almost needs a sixth sense to cope with this rapidly changing world, yet rose breeders for a period of time were creating roses with no fragrance. A fragrant rose makes you take a deep breath to enjoy its perfrume, and indirectly it is of benefit by filling your lungs to capacity with air. It is good to see the trend now to produce fragrant roses. "Bewitched" is an All-American Rose for 1967. It is a hybrid tea rose with luminous rose-pink flowers, having a golden yellow at the base of the petals. The flowers are fragrant and good for cutting. Another new rose is "Roman Holiday." This is a floribunda rose with brilliant orange-red flowers, which have elusive tea fragrance and are borne in clusters. Individual flowers measure two and a half to three inches across.

If your home is adjacent to a vacant lot and you are afraid of a brush fire, rock roses can help relieve this worry. Plant a hedge of them on your property line, especially along where the wind comes from. Their leaves when burned are not ignited easily, but the flames fizzle out and smoke. Other plants which are used as fire retardants are: rosemary, ice plants, and ivy. Cutting dry weeds and grass to within 70-100 feet along the property line is a great help in stopping a fire.

Seeds are composed of highly concentrated food and it takes a lot of energy on the part of the plant to produce them. This energy could be diverted to produce more flowers if you will pick off the withered ones from your annuals, before the seed formation.

Fuschias and tuberous begonias should be fed every two weeks with a mild concentration of fish emulsion: 1/2 tablespoon to 1 gallon. Pick the seed pods from the fuschias while they are very small. Avoid overhead watering of begonias, otherwise you will land up with plants plagued by mildew. Try not to water them towards the evening. Wet leaves during the night are inviting powdery mildew to take hold.

It is rewarding to have a fruiting shrub and tree. These days we are enjoying (so is the Bluejay) our two mulberry trees. The small fruits are black and sweet. A fruiting mulberry tree should be planted some distance away from the patio and immediate vicinity of the home. The fruits fall with the wind and would stain your cement patio. The mulberry is also a good, well-shaped shade tree. If you do not care for the fruit, there is a variety which is fruitless and can be planted anywhere in your garden. The leaves of course are relished by silkworms, so here you have a chance to produce your own real silk, and to heck with the synthetics. Sounds good!

Watering by hand sharpens your observation of the garden and during these moments (hours!), you see the hidden beauty of your garden and make mental notes of what is needed here and there. Be careful not to wet the leaves during the hot hours of the day. The leaves are hot and they easily get sunscalded.

House plants can migrate out of their winter abodes and enjoy a shower of water to wash their leaves. Leave them in a sheltered place under dappled light outside.

munications Technician First Class. Nancy is hurrying to get settled in their new home before the arrival of their third child.

When the rain began to fall on a party planned for Lane Wilder's first birthday, his mother, Mrs. Loren Wilder, moved decorations and cake which followed a wastern theme, (and the guests) inside and festivities continued at the Carmel Valley Poultry Ranch owned by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl W. Kunz. In addition to Mrs. Kunz who assisted, those attending were his Great Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cree Wilder of Carmel, his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Elaine Scarlet, Miss Susan Currier, Mrs. Jimmy Madsen and Steven, Mrs. William Parham and Kimmy, Mrs. Eric Scarlett and Steven, Mrs. Mike Ricketts with Jennifer, Jodie and Jill, and Mrs. Carl Dietman with Debbie and Cindy.

In addition to Lane's birthday, the guests were celebrating news of the arrival of a baby boy to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hansen of Elko, Nevada. The baby is the second grandchild for Eunice and Bud Wilder who are former residents of Scarlet Road.

Friends receiving letters from the Glen Young family hear that they are settled on a ranch near Tacoma, Washington where the girls, Lolly, Cindy, Judy, and Laura, ride their horses every day. The former Valleyites at one time owned the Village Shoe Store, were residents of the Bashline Ranch on the Cachagua, and more recently made their home on Laurel Drive.

A beautiful display of handcrafted copperware and jewelry was shown to the friends invited to the Copperware Guild Show last week at the home of Mrs. James Sands. Mr. and Mrs. Al Clontz of Salinas demonstrated the home and gift line. Refreshments followed in the Sands' Hitchcock Canyon home served by JoAnn and Mrs. Dan (Sharon) Weiss to; Mmes Arlo Pitcher, Lorraine Jones, Mary Jean Haller, A. A. Collins, John Mark, Robert Haller, Jinks Beal, M. A. Hattan, Chuck Ziert, Margaret Bennett, and Mrs. Barbara Simpson.

Fires, auto accidents keep Volunteers busy

A hot chimney flue that had ignited the house siding at 89 Paso Hondo took the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department on an emergency call at 11:00 a.m. June 21. The fire had been extinguished before the trucks arrived but firemen removed boards to inspect for any smouldering embers. Damage was estimated at $25 at the Jack West residence.

A small grass fire thought to have been started from a cigarette tossed from a car, burned a small area of undeveloped land near the airstrip at 1:01 p.m. June 21. The Volunteer Firemen arrived to find De Wayne McFadden, a neighbor fighting the blaze.

An auto struck and demolished a cattle guard on the Cachagua Grade before tipping over and pinning two of its occupants on June 19 at 2:27 p.m. Three pieces of equipment, twelve members of the First Aid Rescue Unit, and bystanders managed to lift the vehicle off the victims who were trapped underneath. The injured men were taken to a local physician's office and then to the Community Hospital. Injured were the driver, Donald Dutra, 1108 Cooper Street, of Castroville, who was thought to have had possible internal injuries, a broken foot, a broken pelvis and multiple lacerations. A passenger, Larry Smith, 1141 Olympia, Seaside, sustained a possible broken back and internal injuries. Two other passengers who were not thrown from the car and were not injured, were Elizabeth Dutra, 1 1/2, and Gary Jacobs, 345 Viegen Street in Monterey.

A single car accident two miles north of the Carmel Valley Road on the Los Laureles Grade sent three victims to the Community Hospital June 20 at 8:36 p.m. in the American Red Cross ambulance operated by the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department. The call was received during the Department's Company I fire Drill. Injured were Frank Neely, 1619 Laguana Street, Seaside, who received a concussion and face and head lacerations. Frank Delespinesse, 1120 Clemintine, Seaside, shock and possible concussion. Ralph Henderson, 1649 Kenneth Street, Seaside, thought to have been the driver, was treated for lacerations of the knee, arm, and chest injuries.

MAGIC SHOW AT FOREST THEATRE

A variety program will be the offering by the Carmel Arts Commission at the second Sunday afternoon, 1966 Summer Series, at the outdoor Forest Theatre. Ballet numbers by local dancers and "Magic and Illusion" by William (Bill) Taylor, an extraordinary young Los Angeles magician, will be the featured attractions on the July 8 program.

Taylor, who returns to Carmel for his second engagement, is one of the youngest Master Illusionists in the trade. He has appeared on a regular series of T.V. programs and in the Los Angeles area for night club performances. Highlight of the July 3rd illusion program will be the Lady-Sawing Act, utilizing his own invention. This act will be performed for the first time anywhere on an outdoor stage and without the use of backdrops.

Mr. Taylor reports that he is heavily insured against failure for this initial performance, for which he has engaged the services of a close friend.

Appearing on the Variety Program will be Miss Renee Wurzman, presenting two original dances to music by Dimitri Shostakovich, "Spring Valse" and "Humoresque." Miss Wurzmann has been a pupil at the American School of Dance in Hollywood under Eugene Loring, the San Francisco Ballet School and the Metropolitan Opera Ballet School. She has appeared locally with many ballet groups and has been featured in productions by the Golden Bough Players at the Circle Theatre.

Kira Ivanovsky, a teacher of ballet on the Peninsula for nine years, will present a number of her advanced pupils in two numbers, "Dance of the Hours" and Ponshielli and "Birthday Gifts" by Bayer. Among the young ballerinas who will dance Sunday, July 3rd are: Carol Borgman, Beth Green, Sheila and Stephanie Haddad, Mimi Ivanovsky, Alison Landaker, Stacy Lawson, Charlotte and Dianne Long, Katherine Marini, Sheila Moore, Rebecca Neil, Susan Pini, Erica and Rayen Rutherford, Rosanne Wilson, Carol and Teresa Wright.

The Sunday afternoon programs are offered free to the public by the Carmel Arts Commission and begin at 2 p.m. in the Outdoor Forest Theatre.

Enthusiastic response to Fair prizes

EDDA KAUDY of the Monterey Fair Grounds staff is obviously impressed by the Premium Book prizes offered this year. Theme for the 1966 Fair, which will run from August 10-14 is, "Fun With Fashions and Flowers Around the World".

Community Center board thanks donors

The Carmel Valley Community Center Board wishes to extend thanks to the residents and businesses who have contributed to the Center since the last list was published in the Outlook. The following persons sent donations to help support the pool, bath house and Community Center up to the middle of June: Hon. Ray Baugh (second contribution!) Mrs. E. F. Boehme, Dr. Toland Doud, Ed Haber, Roy A. Hill, Manuel Mancebo Jr., Dr. Marie Ortmayer, Rex Pryer, Mrs. John Rauber, Mrs. Robert Ray, Carmel Board of Realtors, Joseph Edelman, Dorothy Gonzenbach, Mrs. R.G. Lee, Muriell Loesel, Lt. Col. Kenneth Korver, Louise T. Martin, Mary Ann Mathews, E. L. McPhee, Porter-Marquard Realty, and C.C. Schilthuis.

Classic silent film at Tantamount

Douglas Fairbank's original un-cut version of "The Thief of Bagdad" is scheduled for three holiday showings at the Tantamount Theatre. This is a chance to see a great American film hero in one of his memorable roles, screened for the public for the first time outside of New York's Museum of Modern Art's film series.

Highly recommended for family entertainment, the 1924 silent spectacular, will be shown Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Because of the length of the film, all three showings will start at 8 o'clock instead of the usual 8:40 p.m.

On stage, Sunday matinee of 3 p.m., the Geddis-Martin puppets continue in Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland."

Laurel & Hardy film in MPC comedy series

"Two Tars," a Laurel and Hardy film, will be shown Friday evening, July 1, as the second classic American comedy of Monterey Peninsula College's summer film series, "Comic Nostalgia."

Both at 7 o'clock and a 9 o'clock screening are scheduled in the MPC Music Hall. Free tickets are available at the college administration building switchboard or may be obtained by mail when requests are accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelopes. Ticket-holders will be given seating priority over non-ticket-holders.

Accompanying the featured film will be two Robert Benchley shorts, "The Witness" and "How to Take a Vacation"; two W.C. Fields shorts, "The Barber Shop" and "The Fatal Glass of Beer"; and a Chaplin short, "Some News." MPC art instructor Robert Nelson will provide analysis and commentary.

"Tugboat Annie," starring Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery, will be the July 8 offering in the series.

The Rhyming Philosopher

Oh, where shall we fly on the Fourth of July,
To Reno, or Vegas, or Florida?
Or wouldn't you like a nice drive down the pike
To beaches; or would that be horrider?

The call of the road is the thing, a la mode;
Its fun to buck traffic and lick it.
You've nothing to lose though you may make the news
As part of the weekend statistic.

There's people who ache for a mountain or lake,
Or braving the waves on a surfboard;
But travel they must, its get there or bust
To set a new holiday record.

If you should come by on the Fourth of July;
You won't find me worn out or haggard.
At dashing about you can just count me out --
When heros are called, I'm a laggard.

Chorus plays vital role in annual Bach Festival

The Carmel Bach Festival Chorus has been in exisitance since the very beginning of the Festival 29 years ago and has increased in size and stature over the years. Though the Festival is famous for its renowned instrumentalists, its internationally known soloists and its professional chorale, the chorus still plays a vital role in the success of each Festival.

Over the years the chorus has grown to include many trained singers from all walks of life who, though they may not have remained in the professional world of music, have still retained their devotion to music and who keeps active as church soloists, members of choirs and local choral groups, symphonies or theater activities. Most of the members of the chorus live and work on the Monterey Peninsula.

Auditions this year were held in January when Maestro Salgo personally selected those who would participate. They have been rehearsing now since February under the experienced direction of Kenneth Ahrens who has been acting in the capacity of assistant to Mr. Salgo for the past three years. Another indispensible person at rehearsals is Eleanor Avilia, rehearsal accompanist.

The chorus will be heard on opening night in the Ascension Oratorio (Cantana #11) and in Cantata #50 both by J.S. Bach and again in the repeat of that program on Friday July 22; in the great J.S. Bach Mass in B Minor on both Sunday afternoons; in Bach's Passion according to Saint Mark on Monday evening July 18; and in Handel's "Athalia" on Thursday evening, July 21.

Soprano members of the chorus are: Norma Jean Hodges, Gloriana Fischer of Carmel; Katharine Wilson of Carmel Valley; Eileen Morton, Marvel Graham, Motoko Grabowski, Joan Elstob and Ruth Williams of Pacific Grove; Rosemary Crow of Fort Ord; Cynthia Canary of Del Rey Oaks; Lynn McCoy of La Mesa Village; Helen Abinante, Harriet Bird, and Arlene Torri of Monterey.

Altos are: Jeanne Chambers, Anna Pundt of Carmel; Susan Kemp of Palo Alto; Aileen Rather, Helen Rumrill, Nancy Stickney of Pacific Grove; and Grace Patapoff of Monterey.

Tenors are: Gordon Chambers, J. Bernhard Bretheim of Carmel; and James Hull of Marina.

Basses are: Bruce Grimes, Les Rhinehart, John Williams of Carmel, George Sackman of Carmel Valley; Philip Abinante Joseph Wythe of Monterey; G.E. Jacobsen of Pebble Beach; and Michael Tradowsky of Pacific Grove.

Information about the Festival and tickets may be obtained by mail from: Carmel Bach Festival, Box 503, Carmel, (Please enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope); or from the Bach Festival headquarters, Room 3, Sunset Center in Carmel.

White Oaks receives grant

A $1,250 grant from the Bing Crosby Foundation has been made to White Oaks Theatre to be used toward the purchase of an International truck capable of carrying eight persons as well as costumes, sets, and props.

Initially, the large pickup will, be instrumental in the theatre's plans to tour its children's show next fall. Already, an $18,000 contract has been made with the Merced County School District for sixty presentations of the Fantasy Players production.

The Merced assignation is a result of the federal government's new visual aids to education program which involves the workings of the performing arts.

Through the same program, White Oaks has been granted $400 from Tularcitos Elementary School in Carmel Valley. The sum will be used in conjunction with the Education Innovation Project (EDINN) of Monterey, Santa Cruz, and San Benito Counties. Under the contract, sixth graders will be making visits to the theatre and

Valley youngsters join Little Lyric Theatre group

The Little Lyric Theatre of Big Sur will be active again this year and will include a number of Valley youngsters as it has in the past, according to director Gene Perrine. Auditions were held at Tularcitos School prior to the end of classes and those who were selected have been announced.

Sara Gay and Susie Senger, Tegan Speiser, Leslie and Gregg Drew, Cindy Shephard, Leslie Read, Sienna and Regina Howland, Steven Savoldi, Peter and Greg Granoff, Barbara Woods, will attend from the Valley. Randy Smith, Bill Borman and Bill Satchell, in addition to the other youngsters from Big Sur, will also join in the summer workshop.

The children participate in all phases of musical theatre, including composing their own music and lyrics.

The workshop is held at the Big Sur Grange Hall from July 12 to August 21. The children attend two days a week working from 10 in the morning until 3 p.m., with a lunch break, of course. In its third year, the Lyric Theatre is a non-profit organization for the purpose of encouraging and developing the musical talents of children through education and musical productions.

MPC registration for fall semester day students starts July 1

Registration of new day students for the fall semester will begin July 1 at Monterey Peninsula College, Mrs. Louise White MPC registrar, announced today.

From that date through September 6, registration hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday in the college administration building.

As a preliminary to registration, all fulltime day students will be required to: (1) take a placement examination; (2) receive notice of admission; and (3) make an appointment to see a couselor for programming.

All students will return to the campus September 7 for registration verification and payment of fees: health ($1.50); registration ($5 - for students 21 or over taking less than 10 hours per week only); student body membership ($15); tuition ($10.40 for each semester unit - for non-resident out-of-state and foreign students only); and art and chemistry fees.

Placement examinations will be given July 9 and 23, August 20 and September 3 and 7, 8 a.m. in the library lecture hall on campus.

Registration for fall evening courses will be conducted August 29 through September 6, and these students, too, will be required to return September 7 for registration verification.

All students, day and evening, will be required to show proof of recent TB x-ray.

Carmel Valley News is heard every Wednesday morning at 10:32 over Radio Station KIDD. News Director Rob Mahr reports in cooperation with the Carmel Valley Outlook.

Deadline nears for 4-H, FF Fair livestock entrants

4-H members, Future Farmers of America, and other youngsters under 21 years of ago who plan to exhibit livestock at this year's Monterey County Fair, August 10 - 14, must return completed entry forms to the Monterey County Fair offices, P.O. Box 1151, Monterey, by July 5, to be eligible.

Entries in this division are limited to residents of Monterey and Santa Cruz Counties and that portion of San Benito County which is covered by the King City High School District.

Entry forms and premium books are available in Monterey, at the Monterey County Fiar Office, and in Salinas at the Chamber of Commerce, the Farm and Home Advisor's Office or Agriculture Commissioner's Office on Wilgart Way.

SPOTs plan evening boat ride

The S.P.O.T.s are excited over their forthcoming moonlight boat trip on Saturday, July 2. Members and their guests will leave Monterey's Wharf and, by charter boat, arrive at the Harbor Inn at Moss Landing, for dinner and dancing to the music of "The Harborlights. The return trip promises a full moon for Fourth of July week-end enjoyment. The Santa Barbara and Concord Singles groups have also been invited.

Interest groups are under way, and the "Music for Enjoyment" group met on Friday, June 24, for a relaxed evening of folk singing, Brazilian music and dances, and piano, and other instrumental music. A play reading group is also being organized.

All single men and women over thirty are invited to participate in the club's activities, which include dinners, dancing, theatre parties, bowling, picnics and good fellowship. For further information, please call Claudine Van Vleet, at 624-8170.

What happens when you hit 90 mph in a Volvo 1800S?
For one thing, you use no more gas than you would in a Volkswagen at 70 mph. For another, you haven't reached top speed. For still another, you relax because you're driving a car that Road & Track magazine describes like this, "The 1800 S is a very civilized touring car for people who want to travel rapidly in style, a Gran Turismo car of the type much in the news these days—but at a price that many people who cannot afford a Ferrari or Aston Martin will be able to pay." One more thing: you don't have to drive an 1800 S 90 mph in order to enjoy it. Any legal speed limit will do. Come in and see what we mean.

WHERE?
In Picturesque Carmel

ON CARMEL POINT, the vacation house you've all been asking for with a swimming pool and everything you need for entertaining in the charming house - even the furniture, if you want to buy it - for the price of $55,000. Half block from the beach, too.

NORTH OF THE HIGH SCHOOL, probably the most charming post-adobe on the market. It has everything you've wanted - exposed adobe walls, shake roof, tile floors, interesting windows, and it's only $37,500, too.

ON TORRES, a quick walk to Carmel, here's an older Carmel Charmer which rambles all over two lots in a woodsy setting. 4 bedrooms and 3 baths, or use the rooms as studios or guest rooms or whatever. Just $38,000.

ON DOLORES near 13th, something really special in a new house hidden behind a Spanish white wall, planned to include the fabulous old oak trees in your daily living. 3 small bedrooms, or 2 and a den, 2 baths. Only $49,500.

ON ATHERTON in the sunny Hatton Fields area, the ideal family house: 3 big bedrooms, 2 baths and a powder room, separate dining room, breakfast room, completely modern kitchen, canyon setting. And all for only $47,500.

SOUTH OF THE HIGH SCHOOL, where the view of Pt. Lobos and the Valley Hills is so great, we have a home going first class all the way in beauty and charm with a versatile separate level for teen-agers or a mother-in-law. If you're tired of the "chintzy," see this quality home today.

In the Valley Sunshine

EVERYTHING YOU'VE WANTED in your little nest in the west; adobe construction, seclusion in a sunny area, beautiful garden, informal plan, well kept both inside and out. Bedroom for yourselves and one for guests. $42,850.

FOR THE SMALLER NEST, we have a miniature adobe - but it's on a full acre, too - with lots of possibilities for development for only $26,000.

UP ON A HILLSIDE, with the glorious panorama of mountains your view from every window, we have your dream home, already built, with the same care and attention to detail you'd give it yourself, and in mint condition! $57,500.

TEN ACRES AND A RANCH HOUSE with a swimming pool - 10 acres of real investment potential, fronting on the Valley Road, with the house placed all the way to the back. What a fine family home, and what a great future for that family.

IN THE NEW VALLEY GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, three great new homes under $60,000, all very well located, all available on good terms, and one you might lease-option.

Out in the Forest

INFORMAL LIVING AT ITS BEST in a comfortable home with paneled walls, a family-living room besides the formal living l living room, and all looking out on a beautiful garden with lots of room to putter and enjoy life. $47,500.

EASY-CARE in a natural setting, with two patio areas, just under 2000 sq. ft. of conveniently arranged living space, including three bedrooms, two baths, and an oversized double garage. Price is only $42,500.

GOOD SELECTION OF LOTS right now, too. Ask our Fran about these.

Down In the Highlands

OCEAN VIEW? THE BEST! Huge living room, small kitchen, two bedrooms and two baths, this spells "just right" for the owner who entertains and wants the space where it really counts. Taxes are only $202!

TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE: A two bedroom home and a completely separate studio house, all in a woodsy setting with charm, charm, CHARM For $35,000, too.

THREE PARK-LIKE ACRES with a comfortable old home, surveyed for three sites, all with beautiful ocean views, carefully tended over some thirty years as a rhododendron and azalea wonderland. This is something special; see it!

July 2: "The Family Jewels" in Technicolor. A 1965 release starring Jerry Lewis in seven hilarious, slapstick roles.

July 9: "Everything's Duck" Mickey Rooney gets involved with Scuttlebutt, the talking duck, with hilarious consequences.

July 16: "Lassie's Great Adventure" in color. Television's favorites, Timmy and Lassie are lost in the Canadian wilderness--in a balloon!

July 23: "The Outlaws Is Coming" A 1965 release with the Three Stooges at their wackiest, bungling best!

July 30: "Hercules, Samson and Ulysses" in color. The three legendary strong men of history battle together against evil. A 1965 release.

July 9: (Night-time) "Bridge On The River Kwai" Filmed on location in Technicolor and Cinemascope in the tropical jungles of Ceylon, the drama has its beginnings--and its overwhelming suspenseful climax--in a Japanese jungle prison camp early in World War II. Here William Holden as an American seaman who intends to survive the war, watches Alec Guinness lead his surrendered men into their captivity as though they were on a dress parade. In this award-winning portrayal, Guinness is the stubborn, proud and courageous British Army colonel. Running time, 161 minutes— un-cut.

The Valley at LARGE

Comings and goings of people you know...

By GINNIE DREW

Betty and Mike Antoncich celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Saturday night beginning with a family cocktail party at their home in Robles del Rio. Their son Mickey, his wife Pam and their daughter, Cammie were down from San Francisco. Their daughter, Francie, and Betty's sister, Pat Kennedy, also arrived from the city. Daughter Gay and her husband, John Conroy, came up from Santa Barbara to help with the festivities and Pam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Jenkins of Pebble Beach and Betty O'Neal also joined the clan.

Later that night, John and Gay and Mike and Betty had dinner at Will's Fargo. There they combined the Antoncich 25th wedding celebration with an early feting of John and Gay on their first anniversary.

A full capacity audience greeted the opening night performance of "Carousel" at White Oaks. The Valley was royally represented among the theatre goers. Among those seen at intermission were Mmes. and Mssrs. Peter Kutchera, Frank Crispo, Mel Blevens, Maury Nessel, Gerry Cullen, and Bob Jones. Honey Lundin wore a traditional "opening-night long dress" and she and Jack were on hand after the performance for the Theatre Guild Party. Also attending were Dr. and Mrs. Ed Arana, Dr. Clancy Van Horn, Dr. and Mrs. Bill Lifson, Marion Grey and J. J. Irvine, Pat Condren (whose daughter Leslie is in the show), Betsey Bingham, and KIDD's Clicker Slocum.

I received a letter today from Mrs. Dorothy Estill who retired from teaching at Tularcitos School last month. She wanted me to thank all her friends in the Valley and tell them of her deep appreciation of their thoughtfulness. She said she has a deep feeling and love for the Valley and the children and their parents. She was touched by the reception, painting and orchid corsage with which the Parent's Club presented her, and said she will keep up on the Valley news through the Outlook.

Mr. John Elliot of Denver, Colorado, is now vacationing with his wife, Mrs. Fay Elliot and daughter, Deborah. House guests of the Elliots during the past week were Mrs. Zeda Thornton of Jacksonville, Florida and Mr. Jim Neiman of San Francisco. Mr. Neiman left at the close of the visit for Paris, France.

Marlinde Von Ruhs is opening a new gallery in the Village in the Talbott Building on Friday. Her studio was formerly upstairs in the adjoining building. Marlinde will hostess an open house at her new Gallery on July 1, from 10 in the morning.

HUDSON BLAST

ted that the statements made by Hudson not become a matter of record.

After the wild flurry that ensued from Hudson's statement, there were three motions before a final decision was made on the school. Supervisor Foley, who was appointed to the vacancy created by Henry King's death, was in favor of allowing the family residence but not outdoor classes or weekend meetings. Anderson was concerned with the privacy and adequacy of the bathrooms in the school... insisting that those for the families be separate from the students'.

Atteridge and Church seemed in favor of allowing the ammendments and denying the appeal. Hudson's original motion was amended to allow two families to reside and no classes. This was defeated by Anderson, Church and Atteridge. The second motion made by Anderson moved the complete appeal be approved. This was defeated by Church, Atteridge and Foley.

The third motion, passed by Foley, Anderson and Hudson, allowed two families to live on the premises but denied weekend classes.
